

Claire Barker visits Rose Hill

On 27th September, Years 3-5 had a real treat when author/illustrator Claire Barker came to visit. Claire is the author of the Knitbone Pepper books, which are stories about animals that turn into ghosts because they love their owners so much. Many children wore their favourite hats to the event and Claire was available afterwards to sign books.

Here's what some of the children said:

"I liked it when she put on the hats because it was really funny." (Emma)

"I liked it how she described Knitbone Pepper and the horse." (Lea)

"She left the horse story on a cliff-hanger." (Brooklyn)

"I liked it when the animals scared the people." (William)

"I liked it when she read us a part of the first book." (Urooj)

"We got to ask questions," said Victoria Akimbami.

"I liked it when she was talking about her dogs." (Cali)
